

Study Skills

Not only do we have to study in high school, we have to study in college as well. Listed below are some websites that will help students learn about and develop better study skills and strategies. These can be used now and in the future.

It is not enough to simply "think about" studying; you have to actually do it. Find what works well for you and use it.

How to Study.com – tons of strategies and tips for how to study effectively and reduce test anxiety

<http://www.how-to-study.com/>

Study Guides and Strategies – strategies and tips along with useful information divided by subject areas

<http://www.studygs.net/>

Homework Center – study skills and strategies plus subject specific information useful for homework and additional practice

<http://www.infoplease.com/homework/studyskills1.html>

ADPRIMA – how to make the most of you study time

<http://www.adprima.com/studyout.htm>

Prentice Hall's Student Success – tips for test taking, studying, note taking, and much more

<http://www.prenhall.com/success/StudySk1/>

Math Power – study skills specifically for math

<http://www.mathpower.com/tips.htm>

The AOL Algebra I Review is a great place for help in Algebra. It offers multimedia explanations the show students how to solve concepts and instruct them in how to approach similar problems in the future.

<http://www.aolalgebrareview.com>